

TALENThire.com, an Atlanta-based Recruiting Vendor Management Company, Announces Record Growth in 2006

Atlanta, GA -- January 30, 2007 -- TALENThire.com, a Recruiting Vendor Management company, announced record growth of 600 percent in 2006. New client companies like Manhattan Associates, Kroll Worldwide, Giant Foods, and Scientific Atlanta joined original clients like Motorola, Publix, and AOL, LLC over the past year.

"Our sustained growth is a direct result of relationships with our clients," comments Mike Veronesi, managing partner of TALENThire.com. "Prior to launching the product nearly three years ago, we solicited HR and recruiting professionals to attend two focus groups – in effect, soliciting their challenges with outside recruiters and ideas for how a 'members' only' website could manage their vendors more efficiently. Our dedication to matching each hiring company's needs with the appropriate recruiters has resulted in 600% growth in 2006."

TALENThire.com is a vendor neutral system – hiring companies can invite current vendors on to the system, allowing their current vendors as well as existing TALENThire.com recruiting partners to showcase their candidates through the unique rating system.

"Both hiring company and recruiting firm rate each other on key metrics. Hiring companies can then choose whether all or only a select group of recruiters see their postings, including diversity suppliers" said Veronesi. "In addition, hiring companies are required to update candidate status within a pre-determined time frame, resulting in quick feedback on candidates, better quality candidates, and quicker hires – saving thousands in recruiting dollars."

"We've got some challenging goals for 2007, but with our exceptional team and remarkable clients we'll transform the way companies utilize and manage their recruiting vendors," Veronesi added.

About TALENThire.com

TALENThire.com is a Recruiting Vendor Management tool designed by Recruiting and HR Executives to manage their external recruiting resources while saving thousands of dollars in recruiting fees. TALENThire.com is a "one stop shop" for all contingent recruiting needs – we manage a growing base of 500+ recruiting partners subscribed to our members-only site, providing hiring companies a single point for billing, contact, and contracts. Hiring companies post their fee approved positions for free along with the flat fee they are willing to pay for the hire. Hiring companies are in full control of their recruiting budgets (with the ability to generate revenue), and staffing/recruiting firms have a virtually unlimited client list.

TALENThire.com provides immediate cost savings through "name your fee" pricing for fee approved positions, vendor management solutions, reduced outplacement/downsizing costs, and revenue—not only cost savings, but the ability to transform HR and Recruiting into a true profit center. (Those experiencing excitement about TALENThire.com lasting longer than four sustained hours should seek immediate medical attention.)
